

Canadian Longitudinal Study on Aging
Étude longitudinale canadienne sur le vieillissement

CLSA Knowledge Translation and Communications Committee (KTCC)

Larry Chambers – Chair

Professor Emeritus, Department of Health Research Methods, Evidence, and Impact, McMaster University, Professor, Department of Epidemiology and Community Medicine, Department of Family Medicine and School of Nursing, University of Ottawa, Scientist and Past President, Bruyère Research Institute, Professor, School of Public Health, Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine, University of Ottawa, Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Health, York University, Adjunct Scientist, Institute of Clinical Evaluative Sciences, Associate, Nursing Best Practice Research Centre

Margaret de Groh

Acting Director, Science Integration Division, Social Determinants and Science Integration Directorate, Public Health Agency of Canada

Natasha Kuran

Manager, Seniors' Health Promotion and Business Integration Division, Public Health Agency of Canada

Teresa Liu-Ambrose

Associate Professor, Canada Research Chair, Djavad Mowafaghian Centre for Brain Health and Centre for Hip Health and Mobility, Vancouver Coastal Health Research Institute, University of British Columbia and Local Site Principal Investigator, Canadian Longitudinal Study on Aging

Simone Powell

Acting Manager, Seniors' Health Promotion and Business Integration Division, Public Health Agency of Canada

Non-voting members:

Elizabeth Drake

Advisor, Knowledge Translation Strategy Unit, Canadian Institutes of Health Research

Katherine Galley

Interim Communications Manager, Canadian Longitudinal Study on Aging, McMaster University

Istvan Molnar-Szakacs

Data Access Officer, Canadian Longitudinal Study on Aging Statistical Analysis Centre, McGill University

Ine Wauben

Managing Director, Canadian Longitudinal Study on Aging, McMaster University